

Sabrina Razack is an educator in the Toronto area and earned her PhD at the University of Toronto in the Faculty of Kinesiology and Physical Education combined with a collaborative specialization in Women and Gender Studies. Between educating and becoming a student herself, Sabrina worked with Canadian Women & Sport, the Pan/Parapan American Games and the INVICTUS Games. Her current research examines the intersections of physical activity, sport, physical education, media, race, gender, class and culture. Sabrina is an award-winning curriculum writer, and developed <http://teachbeyondaboundary.com/>, to create units on critical sport and social issues.

Why is it important to be connected to the PHE Canada Research Council?

As a practitioner and academic, I personally and professionally benefit from my involvement. One aim of the Research Council is to encourage bridging theory and practice of physical educators. I am therefore able to gain invaluable insights and access to cutting-edge research. The Research Council effectively illuminates relevant literature through publications, various communication channels, as well their annual conference. A combination of formed networks (on and offline), facilitated through the Research Council, has enhanced my work in a myriad of ways.

Sabrina Razack's recent publications:

Razack, S., Khalil, A., Mohamed, H. (2021). The In/Visibility of the Black Muslim Sportswomen. Chapter in Sport Media Vectors: Gender Equity & Diversity. <https://doi.org/10.18848/978-1-61229-000-3/CGP>

Darnell, S., Razack, S., Joseph, J. (2021). "Sport, Social Movements and Digital Media", in Pike, E. (Ed) Handbook of Sport and Society. Edward Elgar Publishing Limited, (pp.53-67). <https://doi.org/10.4337/9781789903607.00010>

Razack S., Joseph, J. (2021). "Misogynoir in Women's Sport Media: Race, Nation, and Diaspora in the Representation of Naomi Osaka" Media, Culture and Society. 43(2), pp. 291-308. <https://doi.org/10.1177/0163443720960919>

Joseph, J., Razack, S. & McKenzie, B. (2021). Are we one?: The Ontario University Athletics Anti- Racism Report. IDEAS Research Lab, University of Toronto.

Razack, S., McKenzie, B., (October, 2021). Op-ed. 'I don't have an ounce of racism in me': Jon Gruden and the NFL's whiteness problem. The Conversation.

Razack, S., McKenzie, B., Joseph, J. (July, 2021). Op-ed. Black women athletes ruptured destructive and limiting beliefs at the Tokyo Olympics. The Conversation.

Joseph, J., Razack, S. (August 2020). Op-ed:The Masai Ujiri incident shows success doesn't shield Black leaders and athletes from racism. The Globe and Mail.
